International cooperation projects – year 2019

Emilia-Romagna Region defined measures of intervention and cooperation towards developing countries through the regional law n.12 of 2002. The adoption of triennial documents (Regional legislative assembly deliberation n° 99 of 2016) and an operational plan (Regional government deliberation n°231 of 2018) allowed to identify geographical areas and sectors with priority of intervention and specific tools.

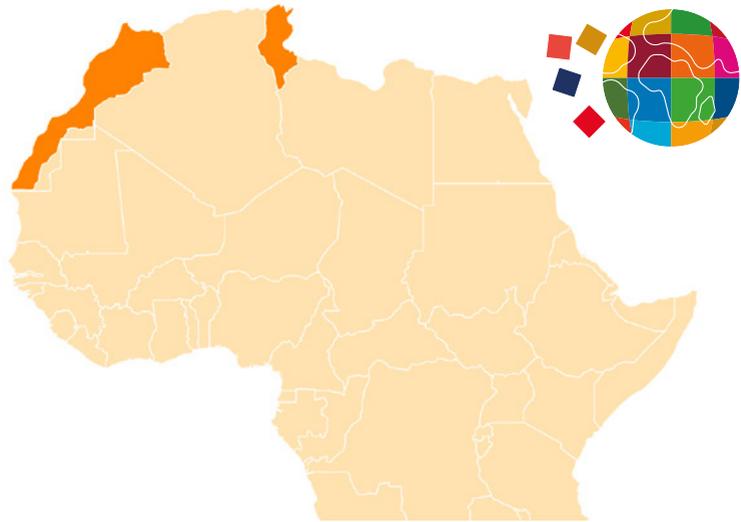

In addition, territorial networks and effective partnership have always been a strength for the Region, which has been developed through consultation boards, first of all Country-boards. According to indications from documents and guidelines resulting from the debate with partners, the Region releases calls and warnings for territorial subjects (NGOs, associations, authorities) every year.

In 2019 started 37 projects financed by the regular annual call, in Belarus, Burkina Faso, Burundi, Cameroon, Saharawi refugee camps, Ethiopia, Kenya, Morocco, Mozambique, Senegal, Autonomous Palestinian Territories, Tunisia and Ukraine; the more represented sustainable development goals are number 2 – zero hunger – number 5 – gender equality, number 4 – quality education, number 8 - decent work and economic growth and finally number 3 - good health and well-being.

The projects relied on a consolidated partnership network, composed by NGOs, associations, local authorities, enterprises relating to other territories and encouraging the development of partnerships among different territories, which is the real added value of international cooperation.

In 2019 has been released a warning for two strategic projects managed by the Region, in Belarus and Cameroon. These projects are a real example of how partnership made by different subjects from the Emilia-Romagna territory (local authorities, NGOs, associations, universities, enterprises) can create synergies and real impact on recipients countries.

Among activities run in 2019, there are also the interventions in some countries in emergency situation and under natural disaster, which consist of 2 emergency projects in Myanmar e Mozambico, related to food and health sectors.

Southern Mediterranean Area: Morocco, Tunisia

- Femmedia: Mediterranean media adopt a women perspective

Applicant: Cospe association

Countries: Morocco and Tunisia

The project aims at promoting women empowerment and the eradication of gender stereotypes in peripheral and rural areas in Morocco and Tunisia. The objective is to support female leadership and women associations, promoting an equal perception of the role of women. The project specifically intends to increase the spread of cultural and social initiatives in Morocco and Tunisia in order to contribute to break down barriers to real processes of change, starting from urban suburbs and rural areas. Support will be given to associative and network projects in order to improve the organization of spaces and initiatives that bring together information and social cinema in the regions of Tangier Tetouan and Rabat in Morocco; Grand Tunis and Jendouba in Tunisia. Support will also be given to strengthen the capacity to design socio-cultural initiatives on gender equality and to consolidate Mediterranean networks that disseminate outputs and events on gender issues.

● Business Incubators in Morocco

Applicant: Cefa association

Country: Morocco

The project aims at promoting social inclusion through educational, professional integration and start-up activities. A didactic manual will be used to face the danger of social exclusion and to create educational unit to guide teachers. The aim is to act on the young Moroccan and migrant generations so that they can acquire a greater awareness about self-development opportunities. Co-financed and assisted business incubators will be developed following activities of training and supervision in order to become fully sustainable. Young and mixed start-ups (Moroccan and sub-Saharan migrants) with a strong gender characterization are promoted. New start-ups are supported on one hand in the implementation, management and investment and on the other hand in the promotion phase in order to make the experiences easily replicable.

● Innovation and fair-trade economy networks in Tunisia and Morocco

Applicant: Nexus NGO

Countries: Tunisia and Morocco

The project aims at promoting innovative processes and practices both on a productive and managing point of view. Special attention is given to women empowerment with a focus on sustainable community development. The intervention involves the Tunisian Governorates of Kasserine Jendouba, Sidi Bouzid, Sousse, Kebili e Mahdia and the Moroccan provinces of Tangeri Al Hoceima and Azilal.

Agri-ecology and fair trade will lead producers to innovate their production practices. Women employed in agriculture will empower and improve their working and living conditions which are among the most precarious in the Tunisian context.

● Promotion of women and youth entrepreneurship in Tunisia

Applicant: ARCS Arci NGO

Country: Tunisia

The aim of the project is to support women and young people creating self-employment in Tatouine and Jendouba Governorates through the reinforcement of ongoing interventions. Young people and women in Tatouine governorate will create 5 enterprises in the handcraft supply chain (food, textile and cosmetics) and will locally produce and sell their products under the brand name "Tatoui". 15 enterprises made of young men and women will be also created to work in agriculture, livestock farming and processing of agri-food products and services located in Jendouba Governorate. The enterprises start-up consists in supporting, procurement of certain basic products on one hand and on the other hand marketing and dissemination of products. In addition to coordination and awareness-raising, other activities will be carried out like: training cycles, follow-up of entrepreneurial initiatives, institution of a support fund, arrangement of an exchange event between Italy and Tunisia.

Sub-Saharan Africa: Burkina Faso, Burundi, Cameroon, Ethiopia, Kenya, Mozambique, Senegal

● Creation of a drinking water well and awareness raising activities on hygienic issues for the village and the school of Nédogo

Applicant: Ho avuto sete association

Country: Burkina Faso

The project aims at improving the health conditions of Nedogo Village's entire community, through education and awareness on basic hygiene standards related to the use of water. The construction of a water well in the only existing secondary school is planned, the goal is to guarantee drinking water supply and proper toilets functioning. In the rural Municipality of Boudry, the well will ensure the access to drinking water for at least 1000 people in the village. An awareness campaign will be carried out to promote good hygiene practices in the youth segment of the village.

● Fighting children malnutrition in northern Burkina Faso

Proponent: Cefa association

Country: Burkina Faso

The project aims at assuring the access to essential healthcare services to the local communities taking care of children suffering from severe malnutrition. Five hospitals under stress and three health centres are going to be supported, by recruiting 1 doctor and 10 nurses. “Advanced healthcare points” will be arranged to allow communities who live in the isolated villages in the most dangerous areas to receive regular visits of nurses and to get the essential care for malnourished children. The project also aims to raise women’s awareness on good practices in feeding infants and children till the age of 2, who are the part of the population most at risk of developing malnutrition both severe and chronic.

● Strengthening food security and improving nutrition in Ruyigi Province

Applicant: LVIA NGO

Country: Burundi

The project aims at improving food and nutritional security of Burundi rural populations through technical and managerial strengthening of local agricultural cooperatives and their access to innovative technologies. Sustainable agriculture, associations, supply chains with high nutritional value and community entrepreneurship will be promoted in accordance with the local socio-productive structure based on family farming and their organization. The main issues of intervention are: supporting certified seeds production that can increase agricultural productivity, improving water management and creating marais management committees which will contribute to a more rational management of irrigation water and also to increase productivity, installation of solar-powered machineries for production (drop-by-drop systems) and processing (mills, huskers, dryers). The machineries will impact positively on the environment, on the profitability of processing activities and on nutrition, thanks to the production of fortified flour.

● Appropriate skills and technologies for enhancement and sustainability of agricultural goods production and marketing in Burundi

Applicant: Municipality of Parma

Country: Burundi

The project aims at increasing small farmers skills organized in cooperatives. They refer to the Maison Parma Centre in Burundi to produce and sell tomatoes and corn, whose cultivation is normally alternated. The territory of Parma is a national hub for production and industrial processing of tomatoes, whose model is going to be shared with local farmers in order to increase their ability to generate income and achieve food self-sufficiency. This model of cultivation will switch between tomatoes and corn and the fields are going to be irrigated with a system powered by photovoltaic energy. In order to allow the local community to learn through direct involvement in agricultural production, a participatory approach is chosen. Farmers will also have access to small credits to support their agricultural activity. The project also intends to strengthen the processing and marketing phases of tomato sauce to ensure profit. Tomato sauce and corn flour will be sold in local markets.

- Nutritional support to vulnerable groups of Carama district population (Bujumbura city) and of Gitaramuka village population in Burundi

Applicant: Comunità Papa Giovanni XXIII association

Country: Burundi

The project contributes to strengthen food security and better nutrition, particularly in the Carama district of Bujumbura City and in the Gitaramuka Village. The planned activities are: reception of orphaned or abandoned children, nutritional support to vulnerable groups (malnourished and HIV infected) of the population and training of women and adults on food preparation and processing techniques, nutritional support to ethnic Batwa families in Gitaramuka village, access to education for their children and training of women on cultivation techniques.
